1996 Town Meetings:

Andover voters want more information

By ALISON ALOISIO

It took Andover voters seven and a half hours to get through 51 warrant articles at Saturday's Town Meeting, and even then not all business was completed -- despite the fact that moderator Jane Rich ran a very tight ship.

Many of the approximately 140 residents who attended the meeting felt selectmen had not done enough research to allow them to decide some issues.

In a key decision, residents voted overwhelmingly to pursue adding two seats to the Board of Selectmen, as well as hiring an administrative assistant.

But the final decision won't come until a special Town Meeting. In the meantime, a study committee will put together the specifics of the plan.

One thing is certain -- there is no town manager in Andover's immediate future. That option was quickly eliminated, also by an overwhelming vote.

Resident Gerry Schachter, citing a high town manager turnover rate in Dixfield and recent problems in Bethel, was against having a manager.

"Those experiences show the hassles between selectmen and the town managers," he said.

But Brian Mills disagreed. "We were in the exact same situa-

Newry OKs funds for fire station, bike path

By ALISON ALOISIO

Newry voters Monday approved spending $50,000 each on a town revaluation and an addition to the Bear River Fire Station.

The money will be taken from the highway equipment account, which stood at approximately $119,000 before the vote.

The revaluation to be done by a professional assessor, drew the most discussion in what was otherwise a routine Town Meeting.

Selectman Steve Wight said an outside revaluation has never been done in the history of the town.

He said Sunday River Ski Resort condominium owners are claiming they are not being taxed equitably.

Wight said Sunday River properties have accounted for most of the sales in town in recent years, resulting in condos being valued at 105 percent, while many single-family dwellings are at 75 percent.

But beyond the condo issue, he said, the revaluation would provide a needed "complete new look at the town. It's time to be sure all properties in town are paying their fair share," he said.

The work is expected to be done by Maine Tax Equalization Consultants of Brunswick.

Michael Austin of MTEC was present at the meeting and outlined the revaluation process. He said it would be completed for the 1997

West Paris meeting date moved to Saturday

By DIANE HAYES

For the first time since West Paris became incorporated in 1958, the annual Town Meeting will move from its traditional first Tuesday of March to Saturday morning on March 9.

The meeting, which will convene at 9 a.m. in the Ames Gray School gym on Main Street, has been changed to its new date because of the Presidential Preference Primary scheduled for March 5. Town Clerk Paula Perham said, "This may increase our attendance as a lot of the older citizens haven't attended the meetings in the past because they've had a tendency to run too late. It will be interesting to see if the morning meeting makes a difference."

The first articles on the warrant will involve nominations for four Town Office seats, which will be filled through secret ballot.

For selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor, incumbent Howard Gurney will be seeking his third consecutive term. Gurney first served in that capacity from 1960 to 1967. He then moved to Rangeley where he was town manager and selectman from 1968 to 1983. After returning to West Paris he once again was elected selectman in 1990. No one has indicated that they will oppose Gurney.

There will be a two-way race for

Board: No severance package for Brown

Former clerk will not take case to voters

When the selectmen last week approved a petition to remove Merton Brown from the town clerk's job, they also voted to deny him a severance package. Brown, who has been clerk since 1983, is scheduled to leave his job on March 15. The selectmen's decision was made at a meeting held at the Crescent Park School on Tuesday night. ### Brown: Don't change the way town clerk is selected

By MICHAEL DANIELS

At an extraordinary meeting last week, there was little, if any, evident support for changing the way Bethel town clerks are selected.

Voters will decide tomorrow evening if they wish to have clerks elected by voters rather than appointed by the town manager.

But at last Thursday's meeting, even former town clerk Merton Brown -- who drafted the petition calling for the change -- recommended that things be left as they are.

Brown said the petition had been drafted at a time when he thought it was still possible to return to his former job, but he now has no hope or intention of making such a return.

His family, he said, will move from town in June.

Of the approximately 60 people who attended last week's meeting, only a handful spoke out, and those who did expressed questions and reservations regarding the change.

No one spoke in support of it.

Nonetheless, the selectmen Monday worried that only a few people would show up tomorrow evening, and the change could still be voted through.

Chairman Bob Chadbourne urged voters to attend the special Town Meeting, which will be held at the Crescent Park School, beginning at 7 p.m.

Depression Era memories

Hobo's home out West was on the road

By ALISON ALOISIO

Jason Smith, a hobo who lived and worked on the road during the Depression, is now a resident of Bethel.

Smith, who was born in South Paris in 1941, moved to Bethel in 1983. He worked as a trucker for 20 years. Now a trucker, he still lives in the Union Street home he built in 'The cop emptied his gun at him. He missed him, and Al kept going. I didn't see him again for 50 years.'

Smith came to Bethel, joining the circus

Smith quit school in South Paris in the eighth grade, after a run-in with the school principal.

HOME ON THE RANGE Jason Smith, left, of Bethel spent a year and a half riding the rails and working odd jobs during the Depression. His travels took him throughout much of the West, where he worked at a variety of jobs. Above, a 19-year-old Smith holds a horse's head while the animal is branded.

somebody come through the door, and I punched him in the stomach. It turned out to be the principal.

"He took me in his office and hit me with a rubber hose. I never went back to school after that," said the 84-year-old Smith.

Smith, who had five sisters and a half-brother, had supported himself since the age of 10 by working for a farmer in the hayfields.

"I was never afraid to work," he said.

After leaving school, he worked at various construction jobs. In the summer of 1929, he heard there was a circus in Lewiston.

"I went to the circus grounds on Sabbath Street. I saw a friend of mine, Al Sargent. He said, 'I joined the circus -- why don't you, too?'"

Smith was game, and the two laborers rode the circus trucks to Augusta, and then to Waterville.

But their circus career was short-lived. "Al got into some sort of scrape in Waterville," Smith said.

The solution, Sargent said, was to head west.

They hopped a freight train to South Portland, and from there got a westbound train.

But the young men ran into trouble in Lima, Ohio. As the train slowed and they prepared to jump off, they were spotted by a train detective on the lookout for slowpaws.

Sargent took off running.

"The cop emptied his gun at him. He missed him, and Al kept going. I didn't see him again for 50 years," Smith said.

The detective stopped Smith and questioned him for 20 minutes. Satisfied that he wasn't a criminal on the run, he let him go.

In Chicago, he was stopped by police who accused him of being a

PROBLEM IS NOT THE CITIZENS

To the Editor:

I believe a little investigating is warranted by Andover Constable Cayer. The problems with past selectmen's meetings did not involve disruptive citizens. Had Mr. Cayer listened to tapes of the meetings in question I think he would have found that this was the case.

At no time did a member of the audience disrupt the meeting with "inappropriate, offensive, interruptive, or repetitive comments." What is inappropriate and offensive is the manner in which Mr. Madigan and Miss Gaudet have chosen to conduct themselves. While the situation is sad, it does not warrant involvement by the police.

Mr. Cayer's inquiry to the DA's office is evidence that he failed to review the tapes of the meetings in question. It is amazing to me that Mr. Cayer is involved in this situation at all. I can't help but wonder if he was not a pawn used to intimidate the citizens of Andover.

Whether or not Mr. Cayer's actions were requested by the selectmen is the guess of anyone. However, it is important that law enforcement agencies do not get involved in town politics, especially a police department that consists of one employee. In dealing with this issue some objectivity was in order.

In my opinion a more appropriate action would have been for Mr. Cayer to suggest a copy of Roberts Rules of Procedure. The idea that a law enforcement agency would be responsible for removing a person exercising their rights as citizens is reminiscent of some pretty awful periods in history. I publicly request before any action is taken by an officer of the law in this situation that an objective inquiry be made into the situation and thorough review of the U.S. Constitution be made.

ANDOVER VOTE A SAD COMMENT

To the Editor:

Saturday's vote was a sad comment on the participatory democracy process in Andover.

After months of work on lowering the budget from last year's 20 percent increase, the Budget Committee and selectmen have seen their work shattered by almost a blind disregard for common sense.

When we heard of the "tax delinquency" people at Saturday's meeting who were shouting for lower taxes and expenditures, the Budget Committee and selectmen heard your pleas last year and worked to bring them into particular, but when we needed your votes to lower the budget, you voted to increase it.

After a long and hard day of work, the selectmen and the Budget Committee were asked to accept a budget that was 20 percent higher than the one they had worked so hard to bring down. It is a sad comment on the participatory democracy process in Andover.

Many of the people who voted to increase the budget were not even present at the meeting. They were not even asked for their input. It is a sad comment on the participatory democracy process in Andover.

FIRING WAS REPREENSIBLE

To the Editor:

I am writing to you about the firing of Mr. [Name] from the [Organization].

Mr. [Name] was a dedicated and hardworking employee who had been with the organization for many years.

His firing was a surprise to everyone who knew him, and it was a sad day for all of us.

I believe that the firing of Mr. [Name] was a mistake, and I hope that the organization will reconsider its decision.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Briefly

Filmmakers to open production office
BETHEL--"The Myth of Fingerprints" moviemakers expect to open a production office in Bethel sometime this week, according to assistant production coordinator John Marcus. The site is still being negotiated, he said. Filming is scheduled to begin in April. The crew is expected to stay at the Bethel Inn. Marcus also said interns are being sought to help with coordination in the art department. "ER" actor Noah Wyle is scheduled to be in the cast, and negotiations for actors for the other roles in the film are ongoing. The movie's storyline centers on the relationships within a family that comes together for a Thanksgiving reunion.

Safer Families ends services
BETHEL--The Safer Families program will be ending direct program services as of March 6, due to lack of further state and private funding. Board members plan to continue lobbying for legislation to protect victims of domestic violence. The board will also offer support and volunteer to provide educational opportunities in Oxford County schools, and will work with law enforcement agencies and other institutions to ensure that victims receive services and decrease the amount of domestic violence in area communities.

Maine population grows slightly
AUGUSTA--Maine's population grew by 2,000 to 1,241,000 from 1994 to 1995, according to a state Department of Labor publication and the U.S. Census Bureau. The excess of births over deaths more than offset a slight net out-migration (more people leaving than entering the state). Massachusetts recorded the largest population gain in New England, but the fastest-growing states were New Hampshire and Vermont. Rhode Island was one of only two states in the nation to lose population.

Turn on your headlights
AUGUSTA--Maine State Police are reminding motorists to use their low beam headlights when driving during inclement weather. State law requires lights to be on when visibility has been reduced to less than 1,000 feet, according to state police chief Alfred Skolfield. "Recent fog conditions have caused poor visibility and the 1,000-foot threshold occurs during most snowstorms as well," he said.

Daughters' Day organizers needed
AUGUSTA--The committee organizing Take Our Daughters to Work Day is seeking individuals, businesses, parents, and schools interested in organizing in their local communities. Scheduled for April 25, the fourth annual event will provide girls ages 9 to 15 the opportunity to spend a day in the workplace of their choice. The day is designed to focus national attention on the needs of girls, and to introduce girls to potential career opportunities. For more information call the Women's Development Institute at 207-626-4471.

Comments on AMC permit sought
LACONIA, N.H.--The U.S. Forest Service is seeking public input regarding issuing a permit for the Appalachian Mountain Club to operate on the White Mountain National Forest. The previous permit expired in October. Meetings to hear public comment will be scheduled. Anyone wishing to comment in writing may send letters to The Forest Service AMC Permit Team, WMSF, 219 North Main Street, Laconia, N.H. 03256. Those interested may also call Rebecca Oneskes (project manager) at 603-447-5445.

Mainer dies on Mt. Washington
MT. WASHINGTON, N.H.--An ice climber from Vienna, Maine, fell several hundred feet to his death Saturday on Mt. Washington's Huntington Ravine. Robert Vandel, 50, an experienced mountaineer, was hiking with three other people when the accident occurred. Vandel had stopped for lunch and unclipped some of his safety equipment when he apparently decided to cross the ravine to another gully. Witnesses said Vandel crossed successfully but slipped just after he reached the other side. He fell more than 800 feet and slid another 500 feet. He was the fourth person to die on Mt. Washington this winter.

Splitting the cost
MONTREAL, Que.--A newly-minted Canadian bimetallic two-dollar coin has already had its durability called into question, according to a report in the Cross Country Democrat. The coin has a silver-colored outer ring of nickel surrounding a gold-colored aluminum-bronze center. But when the coin impacts a hard surface, it can simply separate into two pieces. A mint spokesman said it that happens. Both pieces should be brought back for replacement.

Wachusett expansion opposed
CONCORD, Mass.--Several regional environmental organizations have joined forces to oppose the expansion of Wachusett Mountain Ski Area onto public lands. The groups said in a press release that the proposed expansion would cause excessive damage to the ecological integrity of Wachusett Mountain State Reservation. The organizations say the expansion would threaten a unique grove of old-growth forest, degrade the quality of non-potable drinking water supplies, and replace natural forest habitat with artificially-maintained lawns.

Flu drops life expectancy
ATLANTA--Life expectancy fell for the first time in 13 years, based on figures from 1993, but federal researchers say that doesn't mean a shorter life span--just that it was a tough year because of deaths from flu. The federal Centers for Disease Control said Thursday that life expectancy in 1993 was 75.8 years, down about four months from 75.8 years in 1992. The CDC blamed the decline in life expectancy on two nationwide epidemics in 1993 in which 82,820 people died from flu or pneumonia. Most of those who died were older and weak from other chronic health problems. Provisional 1994 figures indicate a rebound in life expectancy, the CDC said. The decline in life expectancy underscores the need for people in high risk groups, especially the elderly, to get flu shots, a CDC spokesman said.

White Mountain National Forest
Terri Marceron, assistant ranger for the White Mountain National Forest, reminds winter hikers on Mount Washington that the new Lion's Head winter trail offers the safest route to avoid avalanches in the Lion's Head area. The trail is located approximately 50 feet beyond the junction of the Raymond Path and the Huntington Ravine winter snowcat trail. The snowcat trail begins 1.7 miles up the Tuckerman Ravine trail from the Appalachian Mountain Club's Pinkham Notch Visitor Center. The new Lion's Head winter trail joins the Lion's Head trail at tree line; it has orange signs with black letters and is blazed with red reflectors and blue squares. "We needed to find an alternate route after heavy rains last fall washed out more than 80 feet of the existing trail, creating a new avalanche path across the trail," said Marceron.

Marceron also advised all winter hikers, climbers and skiers to check the latest avalanche and weather information. U.S. Forest Service Snow Rangers issue avalanche bulletins based on snow stability, possibility of avalanches, and safety of backcountry travel on a daily basis from late December through Memorial Day.

To check on current conditions or for more information, contact the Forest Service snow rangers or AMC caretaker in Tuckerman Ravine; the AMC's Pinkham Notch Visitor Center (603-466-2725); or the Androscoggin Ranger Station in Gorham, N.H. (603-466-2713, TTY/FAX: 603-466-2856).

AN OMINOUS BUDGET OMEN?--It looked like it when this black cat showed up at a recent SAD44 School Board budget workshop in Andover. ## School Tax Assessment Review Group

The School Tax Assessment Review (S.T.A.R.) group met recently to discuss SAD44 budget-related issues.

The LD 880 Minority Report regarding referendum voting is to be heard by the legislators very soon.

The amendment states that the budget can only be voted on three times.

"If the budget is not adopted by June 1, a six-member mediation team must be formed subject to rules adopted by the office of Policy and Legal Analysis Draft... Commissioner of the Department of Education.

"The mediation team shall consist of three School Board members, appointed by the School Board, three selectmen appointed by the selectmen of the towns in the SAD and one non-voting facilitator appointed by the commissioner.

"A vote of two-thirds of the mediation team is needed to approve the budget. The budget must be adopted by the beginning of the district school year."

The S.T.A.R. group agrees that the amendment is an improvement over the original. However, it seemed to drag out the decision, as mediation meetings often do.

As a group we lean toward a ruling that if the budget does not pass, it is automatically reverted back to the previous year's or the current budget, whichever is the lesser figure.

Anyone interested in the LD 880 amendment is encouraged to contact Jeff Butland, president of the State Senate at P.O. Box 431, Cumberland, ME 04021 or at 1-800-423-6900.

We decided that as soon as we review the ballot provided by SAD44, we would hold meetings in the towns and particularly with the selectmen. One representative volunteered to draft a sample ballot. As soon as the school finalizes the budget, meetings will be set up in all five towns.

A representative of the group had previously met with Bruce Powell, business manager for SAD44, to go over state funding. We were pleased to hear the district is considering no increase to the budget from a local level over last year's figures. The group endorsed a no increase at the local level, and will recommend that amount to the voters.

Adult education is a separate budget.

The vote on the budget is a majority tally from all five towns within the district. Some people have the impression that one town could vote the budget down. Since that is not the case, volunteer input is encouraged from all the towns.

From the Bethel Police log:
First it's stolen, then it's not

At 11:15 p.m. on March 3 the Rumford Police Department requested that police stop and hold a possible stolen vehicle headed west on Route 2. The officer located the vehicle and stopped it. Rumford then advised the subject driving had permission to use the vehicle, and it was now not stolen. The operator was allowed to go on his way.

Saturday, March 2
At 3:35 p.m. the Oxford County Sheriff's Office requested an officer respond to an accident on Route 2 in Gilead. A vehicle was reportedly still in the westbound lane near the ledges, in a very bad location. The responding deputy was still in West Paris. Police asked to provide emergency lighting to prevent a secondary accident.

Sunday, March 3
At 8:15 a.m. a Walker's Mills Road resident reported that an unknown person had struck a utility box located on his property sometime overnight. No vehicle description was given. Damage was estimated at $1,000, and Oxford West Co. was notified.

At 7:53 p.m. Oxford County dispatch requested that police meet with a subject at the Norseman Inn in reference to a hit-and-run accident that occurred earlier in Newry. Police obtained the necessary information and passed it on to a deputy.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

Upswing in snowmobile accidents leads to new call for caution, common sense

Citing the seventh snowmobile fatality of the winter season, as well as numerous personal injury accidents to snowmobilers over the weekend, Gary Anderson, safety officer for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, is urging snowmobilers to use common sense and avoid alcohol.

In early February a Houlton man was killed on Nickerson Lake in New Limerick when he and his snowmobile struck an ice-fishing shack at what wardens reported to be a "high rate of speed." An autopsy and the accident investigation revealed that the dead snowmobiler was intoxicated and driving at speeds approaching 100 mph.

This season the state is now nearing the point of the greatest number of snowmobilers ever killed in a single year. In 1994 and in 1972, there were eight, including one drowning in each of those seasons.

With ice conditions still marginal in some places despite the cold weather, the safety officer fears a rash of through-the-ice incidents that might result in a disastrous year for snowmobile safety in Maine.

Estimates from the five Warden Service divisions put the total number of personal injury snowmobile accidents this winter to well over 100. "We could change these regrettable safety statistics overnight," says Anderson, "if people would simply slow down and not abuse alcohol. These two factors are appealing all too often as the primary contributor to death and injury accidents on snowmobiles," Anderson said.

Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Ray "Bucky" Owen said "Maine has a wonderful trail system, well-organized clubs and a beautiful state in which to enjoy this winter pastime. Sadly, the majority who snowmobile responsibly are being menaced by those who drive too fast for conditions and abuse alcohol."

Department figures indicate the snowmobile registrations over the past three seasons are at the highest levels since the 1970s.

tion. We fight like hell up there (at the town office). But (if someone is hired) at least the work will get done," he said.

Ed Witt advocated bringing the selectmen/administrative assistant plan to a special Town Meeting as soon as possible.

Elect, don't appoint

Articles regarding the formal establishment of the fire department by ordinance were soundly defeated.

Voters had been asked to choose between two proposals. One would make the fire chief an appointed position, the other would keep it an elected office.

Several people made a case against an appointed chief. Kelly Scotti said overseeing the chief would be just one more thing for selectmen to do. "They have enough duties, and they can't do those. Why give them even more?" she said.

All three current selectmen have been in office a year or less.

The proposal to establish an ordinance with an elected chief will be brought back for reconsideration at a later meeting. Some voters objected to wording that appeared to give more power to the chief, as well as an additional $2,000 compensation cost.

The increase followed discussion of the town's 1994 audit. Former selectman Wayne Delano ques-

Marshall Meisner sounded a similar theme when it came time to decide if the road commissioner should be changed from an elected to an appointed position.

"I can't imagine these people appointing a road commissioner. They can't handle the job they've got now," he said.

Witt had argued that selectmen needed more control over the commissioner because about a third of the town budget goes to roads.

Townpeople also postponed until later a decision on purchasing the Grimaldi property to allow more research. The recreation committee is proposing to build ball fields on the site.

Another postponed item was a decision on the availability of a demolition material dumpster at the transfer station.

More willing to spend

Voters were in more of a spending mood this year than last. They increased funding for several articles over the amount recommended by selectmen and/or the budget committee.

The biggest addition was $5,000 extra to the professional services account, bringing it to $10,000.

The increase followed discussion of the town's 1994 audit. Former selectman Wayne Delano questioned why the town had not received a completed audit for 1994 and 1995.

"Some town meetings have been cancelled because the audit was not done. We haven't had one in two years," he said.

Selectmen had engaged William Kelly last spring after being dissatisfied with the work of the previous auditor.

Selectman Joe Madigan said a lot of work had to be done to straighten out financial records.

Delano also wanted to know if Kelly could do the work without being a licensed CPA.

Madigan said the Maine Municipal Association told him Kelly's work would be acceptable if it was stamped by a CPA.

Kelly turned his $1,500 fee back to the town. Selectman plan to hire a CPA to do the 1995 work. At an estimated cost of at least $2,500, townspeople decided to put the extra money into the professional services account.

Other areas seeing more modest increases included the library, social service organizations, the recreation committee and the cemetery fund.

Voters also declined to remove any street lights in town, despite being offered three cost-saving options by Central Maine Power.

They did go with lower figures in three accounts -- general municipal expenses, building maintenance and the transfer station.

The expenses account was approved at $29,000 rather than the recommended $31,000, after it was realized more money than expected from last year had ended up in surplus.

Funds for maintaining the town office and garage were each decreased by $500.

The transfer station was funded at the budget committee's $20,000 recommendation, rather than the selectmen's $25,000 figure.

Voters also approved $4,000 to do a cost analysis of withdrawing from SAD44. Though no one spoke in favor of actual withdrawal, the sentiment of those in favor was that the town should "get an answer once and for all" on the issue, in the words of Brian Mills.

Townspeople also approved an ordinance providing for the recall of elected town officials, as well as an update of records of town ordinances and policies.

Calculations on the final total municipal budget are not yet completed. The proposed budget was $319,000, down from last year's $331,000.

Austin told townspeople that changes in valuation generally follow a pattern of one-third of the properties going up, one-third going down, and one-third staying the same.

The revaluation was approved with only a few opposed.

The addition to the Bear River Fire Station was approved with very little discussion. The larger station will allow a pumper truck to be kept on that side of town.

Currently, the larger trucks must be parked in the Sunday River Station.

Voters also approved the renewal of a 10-year contract with Med-Care Ambulance of Rumford, to run from July, 1998 to July, 2008.

Selectman Bill Wight said the cost of Med-Care is significantly lower than PACE, which serves the ski resort.

He said the town could get out of the contract by notifying Med-Care 18 months in advance.

Wight also said patients would not be restricted to being transported to Rumford Community Hospital.

An E-911 ordinance, intended to establish physical addresses for all structures in town, was also approved. The addresses will make it easier for emergency service personnel to locate people on an emergency call.

Townspeople also appropriated $10,000 to build a five-foot wide bike lane from the ball field on the Sunday River Road to the end of the Monkey Brook Road.

The work would be part of road improvements to be made by Sunday River Ski Resort in conjunction with the construction of the Jordan Bowl Access Road.

Steve Wight said he hoped the lane could eventually be extended in the other direction to Route 2.

Other routine money items were approved with little change from previous years.

Selectmen terms staggered

Voters also approved a change in the structure for electing selectmen. Until this year, all three seats were up for election every year.

The terms will now be staggered, with one selectman elected each year to a three-year term.

The three incumbent selectmen were reelected, with the initial terms set up as follows: Wendy Hanscom, three-year term; Steve Wight, two-year term; Bill Wight, one-year term.

David Langlois and Debbie Gilbert were reelected to two- and three-year terms, respectively, on the School Board.

About 70 people attended the two-hour meeting.

West Paris

town clerk, treasurer, bookkeeper and registrar of voters as incumbent Paula Perham will be opposed by former town clerk Diane Stinson.

Perham became town clerk by appointment in November 1994, when Stinson, who had served in the position since 1988, resigned to accept a job in Portland. Perham was then elected to a full one-year term in March 1995.

Stinson has since resigned her job in Portland due to the excessive commute, and is once again seeking the post.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the West Paris Water District, Richard Braden, is expected to be reappointed in his third year for another three-year term.

The final office to be filled, School Board director for SAD17, is up for grabs. Current Director Raymond Brown, who was appointed in early 1994 to complete Joseph Makley's unexpired term, will not be seeking another three-year term because of other commitments.

All nominations are made from the floor of the assembly.

After the election of officers the voters will be asked to consider two municipal budget proposals. The Board of Selectmen are proposing $339,593, while the Budget Committee is recommending $353,881.

These figures do not include the biggest budget item, the town's share of the budget for SAD17. That amount will not be available until June.

The difference in the two figures stems from the fact that the selectmen are making no recommendations on the funding of social and civic service groups other than $9,917 for the Tri-Town Ambulance and Rescue Service. The Budget Committee is recommending $14,288 to be given to 11 organizations.

Both budget proposals, however, are less than the $364,590 proposed for 1995. The selectmen's figure is down by $24,997, or about 7 percent; the Budget Committee figure is down $10,709 or approximately 3 percent.

There are five major issues other than elections and budget to be considered out of the 76-article warrant. These include a vote to change the term of office for the road commissioner from three years to one, whether to continue providing duplicate life insurance policies for the three-man road crew, a revision of the floodplain ordinance to comply with Federal laws, a revision of the minimum lot size ordinance, and how the taxpayers want to use $1,100 received for the sale of a small piece of town-owned property on Kingsbury Street that was sold in 1995.

West Paris usually sees an attendance figure at its annual town meeting in excess of 150 residents, a figure that tends to vary depending on weather conditions, but many people seem to feel that the morning time slot may very well draw one of the largest crowds ever.

One sure sign that spring is finally on its way is Esther Davis out walking almost every day. It sure seems good to see her out and about and doing so well. I went to Lewiston to the doctor recently. There wasn't any snow to be seen (hardly any) on the way down and in the city.

Lolalee and Yogi Dillingham have traded cars. It took me a while to make out whose car it was that was going by that looked a lot like mine, only newer. I have had such good luck with mine so far. It has well over 100,000 miles on it and is still going strong -- I hope for quite a while longer.

Those on the honor roll at Woodstock Elementary School from this area are: Ryan Hathaway, Casey Ryerson, Kristina Koskela, Darcy Tyler, Daniel Morgan. Perfect attendance: William Demarest, Heather Demarest, Jennie Cox, Daniel Morgan. Good work everyone.

March Happy Birthdays go to: Polly Croteau, Derek Leonard, Mary Ellen Halley, Jim Melton, Harold Wilbur, Michael Scott Moore, Patty Burlew, Patty Poland, Leslie Thurlow, Mark Thurlow, Darcy Robertson. A special birthday this month is my youngest granddaughter, Jessie Hatt. Jessie will be 15 years old. How the time flies. Jessie is a freshman at Oxford Hills High School.

Anniversaries being celebrated in March are: Joan and Phelps Poland, Roger and Marie Wilday, and Richard and Andrea Wing. I hope everyone has many more.

Will's Mill, right down the road from my home, has been going strong all winter. Ellsworth Hathaway and Harry Hutchinson are there most days rain or shine, snow or cold.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that he got an etiquette book recently. In April Mr. Billings will conduct a cultural seminar on British and American Literature. The March meeting of the society will feature a dowsing. So if you are hunting for water after closing of the roadside spring, do attend. The curator is trying to promote culture at our museum. He has even written some essays on the subject. The society hopes to sponsor a membership drive soon. Larry Billings has given another painting to the historical society.

Upton

by Amy Geitling
We were all saddened to hear of Aline Bernier's passing. I will now be reporting on Upton's happenings.

Aline's wit and appreciation for the outdoors will not be forgotten. She had a story published in the winter edition of the "Out of the Cradle" magazine, entitled "The Wrong Way Home," which captures her talent nicely.

Happy March. After a cold and wet February, it's nice to feel the warming sun. Last weekend Upton's rain washed away much snow, however winter weather returned with 8 to 10" of new snow and high winds. Umbagog Lake still invites ice fishermen and snowmobilers.

Sue Nelson, physical education teacher at Errol Consolidated School shares that Steven LaVallee made honor roll for the second quarter. Also, the physical education honor roll includes Steven LaVallee, Courtney LaVallee and Jessica LaVallee. First place ribbon in the annual American Heart Association Jumpathon Poster Contest goes to Steven LaVallee. Steven also received first place for the Heart Poem Contest. Congrats students. Upton Town Meeting date is to be announced.

If you have any news to share, please stop in The Upton Trading Post or call me.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
The Stoneham Volunteer Firemen met Tuesday, Feb. 27, for their regular monthly meeting with 15 members present. It was noted that there will be a benefit supper for Jim Morrison on April 6 at the fire station. There will be more information on this at a later date.

The Booster supper is slated for April 20 at the Stoneham Fire Station.

On Saturday, March 9, there will be a Republican Caucus meeting at 2 p.m. at the Fire Station building.

One day a couple weeks ago Lois Niemi saw 53 snowmobiles go across Lake Keewaydin. That must have been before all this rain. They were wise to take advantage of the good weather.

I was pleased to read an article in the Maine Sunday Telegram paper, from the book "Maine is Forever" by Inez Farrington, about Maine's winters. This was submitted by Rep. Herb Adams of Portland. Inez lived by Lake Keewaydin in East Stoneham many years ago and authored several books. By the way, I still have some "Stoneham Reminiscences" books here at the house for sale, also a couple of the little recipe books that has favorite recipes of people who lived here in Stoneham years ago.

We do have some good sportsmen here in town, as the Fishing Derby or John McKee Day derby was held this past weekend in spite of the rain. This was held at Heald Pond. They got wet but had fun and were served hot dogs and drinks, etc., under the tarp. And they got prizes which they really deserved.

vernal sounds, the chatter of brooks after long weeks of ice-bound silence. The flowing waters, the brooks that rouse after the long sleep of winter and come tumbling down the hills and across the meadows bring talk of springtime.

Something about the sound of a brook in March brings a reminder that the earth has its own springtime and lifts its voice in exaltation. It certainly preceded the first singing bird, though it was the birds that brought that sound of exaltation to a chorus of jubilation. And that was the great springtime, the earth awakening.

But even then there was the sound of the brooks in the background, the chortle and chatter of live water.

There it is now, a voice of change, an overture to spring.

Another week, another weather change -- rain, sun, snow and melt. The channel opened in a couple of spots.

We are all happy that Nita Hakala has recovered enough to drive a little.

I have had several callers this week: a pupil I had not seen for many years, Alfred Hakala; a niece, Laurene French of South Paris; Mary Ann Palmer of West Paris; and Robert Holt of Windsor.

All of the Holts were at the farm on Sunday. There were 10 of us at the table for dinner. We had a jolly time.

Dot Betts and I joined several other teachers for lunch at Norway and the afternoon at Louie Coffin's home on Thursday.

My front lawn is decorated with many broken branches from my trees because of the strong wind.

High Street

West Paris by Russell Yates
Howdy, friends. The wind still blows here this morning after a very windy night. Anything that wasn't tied down must be long gone. I sure did whistle around the corners.

Don't forget the supper being held at West Paris Grange Hall on March 16 to benefit Beth Coffin of West Paris. It is being put on by neighbors and friends. The cost will be $5 for adults and $3 for children with no cost for those under five years old. If you wish to donate food to help out, contact Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147. Send donations of money to Dick Manson, c/o The Lake Store, Box 112, Norway, ME 04268. Because of serious health problems, Beth, who is 10 years old, is unable to attend school and is being tutored at home by Mr. Tyner, a retired school teacher. Beth needed a voice activated computer and it was delivered a few days ago by one of the large Shop 'n Save delivery trucks. She will need other supplies to help her schooling. This is a very worthy cause, and we hope for lots of cooperation to help her. Thanks.

There will be a dance at Locke Mills Town Hall on March 9, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. They play those good old songs of the past.

The ladies of West Paris Grange are already making plans for their May 11 craft fair. Many of the particulars will be the same as at their fall fair. This will be a craft, food and white elephant sale and anyone wishing to show their wares at this should call Peggy Blake at 674-3872 or Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147 to reserve the tables needed. The price will still be $3 each.

Alton Lovejoy was a supper guest at the Lovejoy home on Wednesday evening. Mary's son Franklin arrived from Massachusetts and had supper with them. Also that day, Mary got a telephone call from Mark, a young boy that lived with the Lovejoy family for some time. Mark was then adopted and now lives in Durham with his new parents. She also had a call from two little girls that she took care of for a while not long ago.

Last Monday evening we attended the potluck supper and meeting of Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond. Several visitors from other granges joined us, and we had a real good supper and enjoyed the meeting that followed. This was the night of the Valentine Party and I think everyone had a good time.

We didn't go anywhere or do much exciting on Tuesday, but one thing that I did accomplish was getting an order ready to go to Jung's Seed Company, where I ordered one of their small Have-A-Heart traps with hopes of catching some of the red squirrels around here and taking them somewhere else. Do any of you good folks out there want more red squirrels? When talking with my cousin one day, I soon realized that we didn't have many red squirrels, as he said he counted 29 squirrels on the ground near his bird feeders one day.

Thursday afternoon was rather a sad time for us. We attended the funeral for Helen Williams Strout at the funeral home on Main Street in Norway. Helen lived with our sister Viva and family for many years, as did her two younger brothers, James and Harry. She seemed like a member of our family and she thought of us as aunt and uncle. We will certainly miss her very much. There was a large attendance at her funeral. The seating room was all filled and several people had to stand during the service.

I had been planning to buy some boards and make a new set of shelves for my bedroom, and with the mild weather I decided to do that Friday morning. Peggy went as my chauffeur, and with the old pick-up we headed down street. We went to Aubuchon Hardware Store in Norway first to see about repairs for our leaking humidifier but learned I'd have to send to the company headquarters to get the parts needed. We returned home and I started working on the shelves.

Saturday was a very wet, rainy day, but I worked in the shop and finished the set of shelves in the forenoon, and with Peggy's help brought them in and got them set in place. It will take only a short time to load them.

Yesterday, Peggy cooked a dinner that could be easily transported, then we took it and went to the home of Mary Smith on Route 26. After we had all had our fill, Peggy and I washed the dirty dinner dishes, then the three of us visited as we played the card game, Kings in the Corners. We had a good time and it was a treat for Mary, both the dinner and the visit.

SPECIAL-NEEDS WORKSHOP

The Northern Oxford County Council on Transition (NOCCOT), in collaboration with NOVA Community Education and Maine Parent Federation, will offer a series of free workshops at NOVA Community Education, 59 Congress Street, Rumford, for parents of adolescents with special needs, secondary special education teachers and directors, and professionals who work with adolescents in transition.

The workshops will be held on Saturday, March 16. Each workshop is free and participants may choose to attend one or both sessions.

The first session is entitled "Parents and the Special Education Process: Being prepared." It will be held from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Special education law and practices can be confusing and intimidating. A basic overview of the law, what to expect as your child with special needs enters and moves through the school system, and how to work with teachers and administrators can transition the process into a tool for helping your child get the education and services he/she needs.

The second session is entitled "Developing an Effective I.E.P." It will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. The Individualized Education Program (I.E.P.) is the official learning plan for children with disabilities, the basis for both the child's educational programming and placement. This workshop covers the various components of an I.E.P. and gives parents the hands-on skills they need to help shape those components into an effective learning tool for their child with disabilities.

For more information or to register, call Jennifer Stevens at 364-8764 or Sally at 364-2012 or write: NOCCOT, P.O. Box 552, Rumford, ME 04276.

Agnes Gray School

by
Maria Clements

February vacation is over, and everyone is glad to be back in school. Our Maine Studies Week before vacation was very successful. We send our thanks to all who participated in any way. All classes are writing personal thank-you notes to the people who presented them.

Our regular classroom activities are in full swing. The kindergarten class has started reading, and the letter groups that they are working on are R and S. In science they are learning about their senses. They have learned that eyes and ears are important and that the brain is the most important part because it controls everything. They watched a T.V. program without sound and realized that they were glad they could hear. Next they will be baking bread to use their sense of smell and taste.

The first graders are starting their new reading books and are wrapping up their unit on dental health. In math they are weighing and measuring and getting ready for the 100th-day of school celebration.

The second graders are welcoming Tricia LeBroke to their class. Tricia was here for Maine Studies Week, and was glad that she didn't miss out on those activities. The focus in math for the next couple of weeks is subtraction problems up to 18. They will be working with hands-on material, problem solving and number lines. They work with partners in all areas. The next letter to their pen pal in Hebron will include an informational section on their school's theme, Air.

The third grade Super Brains are working on character descriptions as the focus of this week's writing. Each student will share a favorite character during Poxwow time before beginning writing. In math the class is practicing trading in addition and subtraction, and everyone is becoming quite comfortable with this skill. They are continuing with problem solving.

Both fourth grade classes are beginning the reading theme, "Dear Diary," and are working on multiplication in math class. Beginning this week Mr. Litchfield will be teaching two classes of science, and Mrs. Keck La will be teaching social studies to both classes.

The fifth graders are welcoming a new student, Andrew Cook. The fifth grade is back to a normal schedule. Spelling tests are given on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Science rotations are due on Friday. We are beginning our math unit on measurement, continuing with our science unit on science and the environment, and then continuing our study in social studies. We are beginning a new unit on science, our fourth and final unit called, Force and Motion. We are having great success with our science unit, our first unit, and are continuing to work on our final unit. We are so pleased with all the support we are receiving.

The sixth graders are sharing their science projects on insects and have been working on the final day of their science project on social studies. In math they are learning to divide with decimals and are all very confident about their skill in math. They are enjoying their silent reading time and working on their oral book reports.

The next Parent Volunteer meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 13. It will be held in the library at 7 p.m. See you there!

PREP SCHOOL CHAMPIONS. Gould Academy's girls' varsity ski team won the New England Prep School Alpine Ski Championships earlier this month at Sunday River. Placing five skiers in the top 10 of the slalom and four in the top 10 of the giant slalom, the Huskies scored 21 points, five points ahead of second-place Holderness School and 71 ahead of third-place Deerfield Academy. Pictured are (back l-r): Christa Goodman '98, Christine Poliquin '97, Jana Husarova '99, Abby Lefebvre '97, Coach John Hutchins. Front: Caroline Riss '99 and Eva Cardova '98.

NOVA/REGION 9 STUDENT SERVICES

High school students from Dirigo High School, Mt. Valley High School and Telstar Regional High School are working with NOVA/Region 9 student services coordinator Dan Hart in providing transition activities for area eighth-graders for the third consecutive year.

As part of Hart's monthly visits and career awareness programming at the five area middle schools, the "Transition to High School" panel is one of the most requested activities.

Recently, eighth-graders from St. Athanasius and St. John, Peru Elementary School, and Telstar Middle School were visited by Hart, and a panel of NOVA/Region 9 students, and other high school students. The student panel varies in composition of 8-12 students, representing grades 9-12.

The high school students share their version of a typical school day at the high school level, as well as a typical day at their NOVA/Region 9 program, noting that many out-of-the-classroom activities they are involved in such as athletics, Yearbook Committee, Student Government, and work part-time after school. Many of the students also take course electives in either Family Life Sciences, Music/Art, Drafting, and Auto Technology, or taking a NOVA/Region 9 program. The high school panelists also note how important a positive attitude is with teachers and peers, doing homework promptly and consistently, and how achieving good grades during the freshman year establishes a solid foundation in high school.

Telstar Guidance Department

During the week of March 11, over 150 Telstar junior and senior students will be excused from school to participate in the annual Career Exploration Week program. This unique program enables students to contact, coordinate and job shadow or work with employers of the SAD44 school district, Oxford County and work sites throughout Maine, New England, and the rest of the country.

At the completion of Career Exploration Week, many students will have discovered what careers are most interesting to them. Other students will have changed their minds and career goals. Some students will have established summer jobs, while others, having enhanced their decision-making skills, will pursue careers via college, vocational, business schools or military service.

In the past few weeks students have been contacting businesses to arrange their career exploration experiences.

A final project based on the students' Career Exploration Week experiences will be required of all students in order to receive credit. The "Ten Best Career Week Projects" will be selected and announced by early April.

SAD44 and the Telstar Regional High School staff and guidance office are grateful for area employers, businesses and individuals who take the time, interest and patience to help high school students make better informed career decisions.

PAUL TO REPRESENT MAINE IN X-C CHAMPIONSHIPS

Ninth-grader Sarah Paul, daughter of Eric Paul of Bethel and Karen Jordan Paul of Bethel, has qualified to race for Team Maine in the 1996 New England JII Cross Country Ski Championships. Sarah was one of 39 boys and girls ages 14 and 15 to have been selected by Team Maine at the Sassi Memorial Race in Rumford.

A high honors student at Gould Academy, Paul began cross-country ski racing for the first time this winter. Though it surprised Paul that she was named to the team, Gould's assistant nordic coach Scott Jerome was confident in her ability to qualify. "Sarah is the type of kid who improves exponentially in cross-country skiing," he said. "She has some natural talent, but more importantly, she is determined to improve."

One other JII skier from Gould will ski for Maine, sophomore Lindsey Molyneux of Worthington, Mass. Molyneux was fourth overall in the three kilometer qualifying event, and first among 14 and 15 year olds. Paul, Molyneux and their teammates will compete against teams from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont, March 8-10 at Sugarloaf/USA.

PERSPECTIVE: PICTURE PLANE
Secure a picture frame with glass in an upright position. The glass represents the picture plane we look through at the object we would like to draw. Now with a china marker or any pencil that writes on glass, trace the lines of the object on the glass without moving the position of your eye. This exercise shows the perspective as seen from the position of your eye.
